Abstract

Conceptualizing and implementing ecosystems provides us the opportunity to go kaleidoscopic in our vision. The innate ability to address specific grey areas within an existing ecosystem acts as the launchpad to target newer vistas and avenues that would have been impossible to reach out to as a standalone corporation. The existing ecosystems have glitches that can be tittivated by ringing in the new. The flaws and lacunae were embedded since the network to collaborate as needed were unavailable. At times the platform, at times the technological limitations, at times the acceptability, at times the feasibility and at times the intangibles – they all ganged up to create unsurmountable road blocks.

The world now needs two ecosystems – Intrinsic and Extrinsic. Welcome then to CIFD and CIFDAQ – CIFD, a token that talks and CIFDAQ – An Exchange that speaks. Let's get disruptive and break the barriers. Get unshackled. Get real. Get CIFD.

Introspection and analysis show that cryptocurrencies and blockchains have bought to life a nouveau dimension that facilitates greater connections within and outside the ecosystem. We can now tune in to our own “tribes” through the ecosystem that CIFD provides. Exotic and Fantasy pair trading inside and a robust ecosystem of external partners, vendors, developers, affiliates and patrons on the outside make the presently insatiable demands of the eco-users a very pivoting business case. CIFD and CIFDAQ aim to create bridges where demands are first created and then met.

Why CIFD

What after the hype dies down?

What after the euphoria tapers?

What after countries have their own sovereign cryptos?

What after regulators step in?

What after most of the cryptocurrencies burn out?

What after the verticals become more demanding?

What after the traders become more proficient?

What after people want to see stocks as tokens?

What after investors and traders desire that the functionalities of foreign exchange, commodities and stocks find a place for themselves in the world of cryptocurrency?

The questions raised above will become more pointed as we go along. Thoughts are flying around at the speed of light and a cryptocurrency business can survive and thrive only when it is in sync with the demand. It is not what a company has to offer, it is what the investors and the traders wish to see. CIFDAQ has been designed as such a cryptocurrency exchange and CIFD is its native Cryptocurrency token based on ERC20.

The CIFDAQ Blockchain

The CIFDAQ Blockchain will be based on Proof of Integrity. This will be a patented blockchain protocol and will back up as an assurance layer for validation of the data in the blocks and also block of smart contracts, that are unaudited and carry a threat in them.

This blockchain will be a succour for governments worldwide and of course businesses too. Stay tuned to learn more about it on our GitHub repositories in time to come.

A more detailed write up can be found in our to be released Whitepaper.

CIFDAQ – A HEXchange

While the cryptocurrency exchange vertical is quite saturated and getting worried under the mayhem of juggernaut called cryptocurrency is so easy, it will take a very robust business model and scalable technology to stand up and be counted. No loud claims, no noise, no adjectives and no delusional tomorrows. Need to separate the wheat from the chaff. CIFDAQ has a complete intrinsic ecosystem that will make for compulsive on boarding. After a long time comes a utility token offering in the form of CIFD that boasts of an extrinsic ecosystem over and above an intrinsic ecosystem.

CIFDAQ cuts through the clutter and the cackle.

The macro vision speaks about developing an extended enterprise and a extrinsic ecosystem that may not be rivalled anytime very soon. While the CIFD Token is a pure utility token and the native currency of CIFDAQ Cryptocurrency Exchange, the multi faceted utility that it carries embedded within it makes it a token holders delight and with time it can expected to be a store of value.

The business ecosystem cuts across many verticals and integrates into itself a very varied and diverse conglomeration of business owners and competing peers.
